DESCRIPTION:

Learn about the following topics that impact your work or your clients:

- Legal update (new California laws and regulatory changes)
- Behavioral health update, including changes to LPS Act impacting 5150 involuntary holds
- Ethics and professionalism

Among other things, after the training you will be able to:

- articulate two new screening requirements, one for suicidality in certain patients, and one for fentanyl when urine drug screenings are performed, in general acute care hospitals;
- describe two new provisions related to transgender, gender diverse and intersex (TGI) training and directory requirements;
- describe two changes in the LPS Act related to involuntary patients' due process rights after a hold has been "written";
- articulate new laws that protect California providers, and shield patient records that include information about abortion or gender-affirming care from civil or criminal proceedings conducted by foreign jurisdictions; and,
- describe best practices for disengaging from difficult patients while assuring access to care.

DESCRIPTION:

Learn about the following topics that impact your work or your clients:

- California telehealth laws and regulations
- Federal approach to telehealth
- Clinical issues when providing care via telehealth

Among other things, after the training you will be able to:

- articulate the new telehealth training requirement for BBS licensees and applicants;
- explain the consent requirement and how to document consent;
- define and explain the difference between the "originating site" and the "distant site";
- state two issues that might arise when they provide services to a patient when the originating site is outside of California; and,
- articulate three patient concerns or issues that might not arise when therapy is provided "in person".

PRESENTERS: Linda J. Garrett, Esq., CA State Bar #104450 / Andrew J. Garrett, Esq., CA State Bar #312931
